Commuting challenges

Mysureans past the age of 80 years can recollect the feature of people walking, read commuting, to reach their destinations such as the shops in the Central Business District (CBD) of the city, Offices of different Departments of the Government (their number being a fraction of what they are nowadays), schools and colleges (most of them reachable in a matter of minutes), places of worship (including Chamundeshwari temple on top of the Hill), markets to buy daily requirements of vegetables and fruits, shops to purchase clothes and jewellery, medical stores (in numbers that could be counted on one's fingers), banks (dominated by the erstwhile Mysore Bank), City Railway Station to board trains and receive incoming kin as well as guests (hopping on to the now-gone friendly Mysore tongas), play grounds to witness sporting events), even hospital to care for the sick and last but not the least, their routine constitutional both in the mornings and evenings. The above scenario, which earned the remark about Mysore as a city of residents with a laid-back outlook, is not even a talking point in our times.

Mysore of yesteryears hosting bicycles whose number was well below 300, automobiles whose number was in two digits and only a couple of buses for providing public transport that didn't find favour with typical Mysureans, has morphed into Mysuru hosting a population on the cusp of 15 lakh where commuting over even short distances is motorised. Walking is only for exercise marked by people reaching public parks on two-wheelers and cars.

Poet Samuel Taylor Coleridge (1772-1834), who wrote in 1834 the line Water, water everywhere, Nor any drop to drink (from the poem "The Rime of the Ancient Mariner"), if he were to be in Mysuru nowadays may perhaps write 'Cars and mobikes everywhere, but nowhere to park them.' The day is not too far away from modifying the line to read 'People, people everywhere, but no place to walk.' Hundreds of people gather at bus terminals, standing in long lines, jostling with the crowds, never minding the wait for time in which they could have walked the distance, much like the rustics were doing to reach the city from nearby villages. There are no words to compare the discomfort of commuting by public transport with the comfort of walking (then) and using personal transport (now).

To prescribe walking for commuting even within city limits is sure to be laughed at, given the facility of reaching destinations by autorickshaws, taxis on call and personal transport. Lastly, the challenges of public transport are a) crowding, b) connecting the last mile, c) unfriendly to the senior citizen and the physically challenged and d) lacking in punctuality, apart from low bus penetration, reportedly at 1.4 buses per 1,000 people in India.

EDITOR'S BOTTOMLINE

OUTPUT Vs OUTCOMES: Opinion polls suggest that the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) will return to power, probably as the largest plurality and as part of a coalition. The party's election manifesto therefore deserves close scrutiny, especially since many of the promises made in the 2014 manifesto have guided the Modi government's actions. An important feature of the Narendra Modi approach to development is the focus on output rather than outcomes. Output is the number of Railway Lines electrified, outcome would be its impact on the speed and volume of Railway freight and passenger traffic. Output would be the number of Jan Dhan accounts opened, outcome would be the number of transactions that actually take place in those accounts. This is not to decry change in output — the pace of highway construction has made a difference to the country, obviously. Indeed, the Congress promise of filling 1.4 million vacant posts is a case of input without mention of output, let alone outcomes. — T.N. Ninan in Business Standard

Winemakers set vineyards ablaze to prevent freezing

Rome: As temperatures dropped below zero, winemakers set their vineyards ablaze to prevent them from freezing. The fire was apparently their best choice. Several photographs of vineyards in northern Italy lit up at night by hundreds of torches have been doing the rounds online for the past week.

Farmers usually do their best to keep fire away from their grape vines, butwinemakers had no choice hundreds of torches spread out over several hectares to keep the vineyards from freezing. This technique has long been used by winemakers all over the world to create air movement, which prevents frost pockets from forming. Temperatures under -1 degrees Celsius can cause serious damage to emerging buds, so teams patrol the vineyards all night long, making sure that the fires are burning, to at least mitigate the damage.

Cup of coffee with cotton candy cloud

Shangai: Chinese coffee shop chain Mellower Coffee, in Shanghai, owes much of its popularity to its gimmicky Sweet Little Rain, a large cup of Americano coffee served with a fluffy cloud of cotton candy hanging over it. The steam rises up from the hot coffee melting the cotton candy and causing it to slowly rain down into the cup in the form of sweet sugar droplets.

A closer look reveals that the cotton candy takes a while to melt. Also, the sugary rain gets messy. The sugary rain doesn't just land into the coffee, but on the cup and saucer as well, so the chances of getting sticky fingers while drinking are pretty high. Sure, they could make the cotton candy smaller, but I guess it wouldn't look as cool.

Shoot-Out: CID to probe

- Police wait for gangster's family for inquest and to conduct post-mortem
- National Human Rights Commission to conduct parallel investigation

A Police van stationed near MMC&RI mortuary where the body of Sukhwinder Singh is kept.

Mysuru, May 17 (RK&BCT)- The shoot-out incident where Sukhwinder Singh alias Durgesh from Faridkot in Punjab was shot dead by Vijayanagar Police Inspector B.G. Kumar near S.V. Apartments on Hebbal Ring Road yesterday morning will be probed by Crime Investigation Department (CID).

The investigation, at present being carried out by Vijayanagar Police, will be handed over to CID as the case has inter-State ramifications. Sukhwinder hails from Punjab and was operating a network of demonetised note collection and he along with his accomplices had come to Mysuru as part of the collection drive.

While the CID will henceforth probe the case, the Police are on a hot chase of Sukhwinder's other two accomplices who are on the run. Sources told Star of Mysore that the ambit of CID was bigger and they can handle such cases and also ensure transparency in the investigation. A CID team has already left Bengaluru and is expected to reach Mysuru by this evening. The Vijayanagar Police have arranged for the team's accommodation and logistics, sources said.

Family flying from Faridkot

Meanwhile, Sukhwinder's body has been kept in the mortuary of Mysore Medical College and Research Institute (MMCR&I) and the Police are expecting the family members who are flying from Faridkot. The family is expected to reach at 4 pm and following an inquest and the family consent, post-mortem will be conducted after which the body will be handed over to the kin, Police said. As per procedure, family's consent is mandatory before conducting the post-mortem.

Also, the post-mortem will reveal the number of bullets that has been fired. As of now, Sukhwinder's body bears a bullet wound on the left side of his chest and the bullet must be lodged there. The Inspector had fired one round in the air and that bullet too has to be recovered by the CID team.

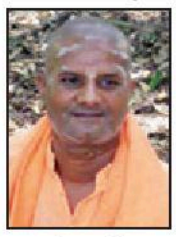
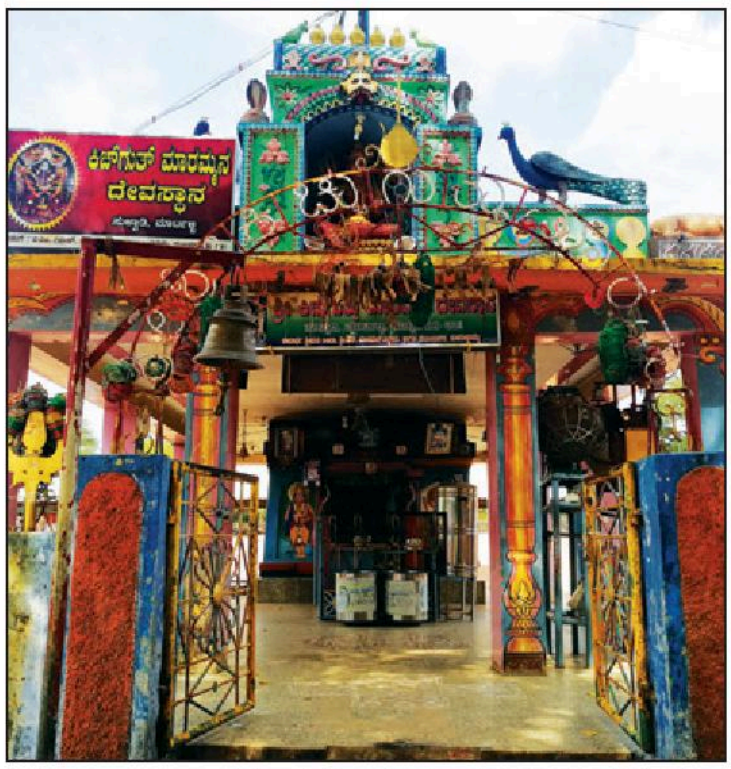
Sulwadi Maramma Temple poisoning case

Mutt land transferred to kingpin

Chamarajanagar, May 17 - Information sought by social activist Dasharath of Kollegal under RTI Act has revealed that the khata of a plot measuring 2.44 acres, belonging to the historical Salur Mutt, has been transferred to the name of Immadi Mahadevaswamy, the prime accused in the Sulvadi Maramma Temple prasadam poisoning case. Immadi Mahadevaswamy alias Devanna Buddi is in jail at present.



Immadi Mahadevaswamy



The 2.44 acres is in Survey No. 203 at Linganapura village, under Kasaba hobli of Kollegal taluk where the high school run by Salur Mutt is functioning and the khata of the land has been transferred in the name of Mahadevaswamy. The Tahsildar's office in Kollegal issued the documents of land records (pahani) on May 3. One Mahadeva Prabhu had registered the land in the name of Mahadevaswamy, who was then the Secretary of Sri Male Mahadeshwara Krupa Vidya Samsthe, in 1997.

Though the land was registered in 1997, the property had not undergone mutation process. (transfer of title) Immadi Mahadevaswamy had applied for khata transfer last year, it is said.

Dasharath said the officials had connived with the seer in the issue. "How could they issue the documents to a person who is accused in the death of 17 innocent people?" he said.

Dasharath has urged the Deputy Commissioner to conduct a probe in this issue and take action against the officials involved in it and has also written a letter to the Vijay Bhaskar, Chief Secretary, Government of Karnataka, in this regard.

Woman allegedly raped by husband's friends

Mandya, May 17 (NG&KS) - A woman, being allegedly raped by her husband's friends has come to light lately at Kolakaranahundi in the taluk.

The woman was married about 15 months ago and her husband's friends identified as Kumar and Ravi used to come to the house quite often during which their eyes fell on the woman. About three months ago, her husband had been to Bengaluru and the woman went to the cowshed to feed the calf when the two dragged her to the nearby sugarcane field and raped her. VOICE OF THE READER

Restoration Vs Reconstruction

Sir,

Apropos the news item "To Demolish or Restore: DC awaiting Government nod on Devaraja Market & Lansdowne building" (SOM dated May 14), the dilemma faced by Mysuru City Corporation (MCC) is a sort of self-inflicted injury. Over a period of time, MCC has failed in its duty to maintain these two century-old buildings.

It is very interesting to read about the vehement protests registered by majority of the "Heritage Lovers" of Mysuru against the demolition and re-construction of these two heritage buildings.

All the people who are protesting against demolition are of the strong opinion that both the buildings can be safely and successfully restored.

Quite a large areas of both the buildings are in a dilapidated condition with the wall bricks and ceilings exposed. In many locations, the foundation also appears to be weak. Whatever the construction technology is available, it will definitely be a herculean task to restore both the buildings.

It will be practically difficult to enhance the safety and increase the lifespan of these century-old buildings. After restoration can the people advocating restoration guarantee safety of the tenants, vendors and public ?

Restoration to enhance the "heritage value" of Mysuru at the cost of safety of public is definitely a dangerous option. The already drained exchequer will be burdened for a work which cannot guarantee one hundred percent useful performance compared to a well-designed new structure.

A new building on the same line of architecture with ample parking space in the re-constructed buildings will be of immense help to all stakeholders.

Restored building may not be one hundred percent safe and over a couple of different seasons, the restored buildings may start its deterioration, making the buildings unsafe and weak once again.

Shoot-Out: Gun carried for safety saved cops' lives

Gangster shouted 'Nikaalke Thok Daal', 'Udao re Saalonko' before attacking Police

Mysuru, May 17 (RK&BCT)- The gangster from Punjab, who was shot dead by the City Police yesterday and his accomplices were armed and ready to kill the Police sleuths who surrounded them. This is evident in the FIR where it has been mentioned that one of the gangsters had asked his accomplice in Hindi Nikaalke Thok Daal (Remove and open fire). Fortunately, even the Police were armed and they were able to defend themselves by killing one of the gangsters.

Yesterday, Vijayanagar Police Inspector B.G. Kumar gunned down 40-year-old Sukhwinder Singh alias Durgesh, a gangster from Faridkot in Punjab after the Police intercepted him and two of his accomplices on the Outer Ring Road near Hebbal. Kumar said he acted in self-defence when Sukhwinder Singh, with a well-built body, held him tightly.

Police personnel shifting the body of gangster Sukhwinder in a stretcher at K.R. Hospital yesterday.

CURRENCY EXCHANGE RACKET

The gang had come to exchange demonetised notes (currency exchange racket) of Rs. 500 and Rs. 1,000 denominations in city. The gang used to take demonetised notes in bulk promising new legal tender to the person who had given them the banned notes. But the gang, after procuring demonetised notes, reneged on their promise and used to threaten with guns and lethal weapons.

Inspector Kumar got a tip off yesterday morning at 8 am that the gang was to come near S.V. Apartments in a locally registered Toyota Etios car (KA-09-C-6031). The informer had sent messages to the Inspector who was busy with Operation Fast Track that was launched to nab the dreaded chain-snatchers.

WEAPON AS PRECAUTION

Before leaving his house in mufti to the location as revealed by the informer, Kumar took his service revolver as a precaution and a safety measure and this move saved his life and the lives of other Policemen involved in the operation.

The incident happened between 9.15am and 9.45am when the Police team came near the apartment and spotted the said vehicle near an un-asphalted road. The Police team surrounded the car and found a driver and the informer on the front seat and three persons seated at the back.

POLICEMEN ASSAULTED

As soon as the Police team surrounded the car, two persons alighted from the vehicle and pushed two Policemen aside and one of them flashed his pistol and hit Inspector Kumar and Constable Veerabhadraiah with the weapon's stock that serves as the weapon's handle.

Sukhwinder then screamed "udao re saalonko" (blow them up) and assaulted ASI Venkatesh Gowda on his chest. Not stopping at this, Sukhwinder kicked the Constable and held him with his broad hands, suffocating the cop. He even tried to snatch Kumar's revolver with the other hand.

OPENING FIRE

As Sukhwinder was well built, Kumar could not do much but warn the gangster to release the cop from his clutches. Sukhwinder refused to comply and tried to assault the Inspector and the cop he was holding. This scuffle went on for some time and the gangster was flashing his gun in a threatening way. Realising that there is no way he could free the cop from Sukhwinder's arms, Kumar opened fire at him in self-defence. Sukhwinder was hit on the chest and he died on the way to K.R. Hospital.

One of the gangsters, seeing Kumar open fire, took to heels and he asked his accomplice in Hindi Nikaalke Thok Daal before running away. The other gangster too escaped from the scene. Sukhwinder was so heavy that the Police had to take the help of local residents to shift him to an ambulance. Seven people had to lift him into the vehicle.

FROM FARIDKOT, NOT MUMBAI

Initially, the Police could not establish Sukhwinder's identity as except for the phone number he was using, the Police did not have any evidence and there was nothing in his clothes to reveal the identity. Preliminary screening had indicated that the gangsters were from Mumbai. Later, the Punjab connection emerged.

When Police checked the phone number the gangster was using on different caller ID platforms, three names surfaced with the last name ending with Singh. Finally, the Police got his name and identity and contacted his sister and uncle through Punjab Police. They confirmed it is Sukhwinder's mobile number.

In quest of the vanishing sparrow !

People collecting bird-feeders and nesting boxes.

Ladies making nesting boxes.

The humble house sparrow may only be a very tiny speck in our environment but it has remained a very integral part of man's existence over the years. And, like the faithful dog it may perhaps have moved with man in his evolution from being a forest denizen to becoming a town dweller. But I am sure that you'll all agree that of late all of us city and town dwellers have been noticing that the once common sparrows have become so scarce that we hardly see them around our homes now. There was a time until not very long ago when sparrows were the commonest birds in and around our houses in every one of our towns and cities.

In fact, the sparrow was undoubtedly the first bird pointed out to any crying infant by its mother to distract it from its pain or distress! But today, to see a sparrow you have to step into the distant countryside or into an old fashioned village. This is the scenario not just in our country but almost all over the world. Most of us may feel that there is nothing very great in these tiny creatures missing from our midst but things are not as simple as they seem. Scientists tell us that there is a very close link between all living beings on our planet with their lives being so closely intertwined that the extinction of one species can have very far reaching effects on many others. It has been estimated that the population and diversity of insects like honey bees is steadily dwindling all over the world, perhaps due to the widespread and excessive use of pesticides and chemicals in farming. And, scientists say that honey bees are so necessary for the pollination of farm crops that if just this one agent becomes extinct for some reason, the entire human race will get wiped out from the face of this earth!

So this loss of the humble sparrow too may be an indicator that something in our immediate environment is changing fast which in the long run may affect life on this earth in a much greater way. And, it is now an accepted scientific fact that the house sparrow is indeed fast becoming extinct. That is why groups of concerned people all over the world are trying to figure out the reasons for this in addition to devising ways and means of getting the vanishing sparrow back into our midst by increasing its dwindling population. That is also why we even have a designated 'World Sparrow Day' on March 20 with a different theme each year. The first 'World Sparrow Day' (WSD) was celebrated in the year 2010 all over the world to sensitise people to get the sparrow back into our lives. The imitative for this was first taken by the Nature Forever Society of India (NFS) founded by Mohamed Dilawar, a conservationist who started his work in Nashik. He was also named as one of the 'Heroes of the Environment' for 2008 by TIME magazine for his efforts. But thankfully, Namma Mysuru is not far behind as I found out last week.

The bird-feeder making demo.

Having missed the bus the first time in being able to collect one of the bird-feeders that were distributed free by the Jeev Daya Jain Charity (JDJC) I made sure that I was one of the early birds at their second programme near the Kukkarahalli Lake last Sunday! I was happy to see that the group of about ten ladies had come armed with almost a truckful of bird-feeders and sparrow nesting boxes furnished with soft hay which they gave away free to all those who had queued up to collect them. Members of the group very patiently explained what their mission was and even demonstrated how bird-feeders could be made very easily from some very simple things available in all our homes. As a bonus, with the good that they were already doing, they also gave away packets of bird-feed comprising different kinds of grains cherished by birds!

This low-profile group which has been active for well over seven years was founded by its present President Kokila Ramesh Jain who was inspired by the work of Savitha Nagabhushan of the People For Animals (PFA). Now it has more than fifty members who have so far pooled and spent more than rupees fifteen lakhs on animal welfare work in and around our city.

I think they need to be encouraged and even assisted to do more good in an era when most of us humans are more concerned about our own welfare while turning a blind eye to the voiceless creatures that far outnumber us on this earth! The lives and roles of every one of them are just as important as ours and it is time we realised this like good old Alexander Pope the English poet who with great and uncanny foresight, almost three centuries before us, in his 'An Essay on Man' said

"Who sees with equal eye, as God of all,
A hero perish or a sparrow fall
Atoms or systems into ruin hurled,
And now a bubble burst, and now a world!"

Adieu to a Good Friend and a Noble Soul !

Sardar Ranjit Singh Rangila

With the recent passing away of Sardar Ranjit Singh Rangila our city has lost a very noble soul whom I had befriended over seventeen long years. I first met him when as the then President of the Anjuman E Hadiqatul Adab I contacted him to invite members of the Sikh community residing in Mysuru for our first Eid Milan.

The imposing and stately Sardar said that they would be happy to accept my invitation but would be happier still if I first accepted theirs and came to their Gurudwara for their weekly Kirtan with my family where I could extend my invitation to all their families. And, we did just that, participating in their prayer meeting which ended with lunch at the Langar.

That first meeting cemented a bond of love that has thankfully been only growing stronger over the years! Members of the Sikh community have been participating in every one of our Eid Milans year after year, making us happy. At every one of them Rangilaji would speak about the close bonds that the Sikhs shared with their Muslim brethren over the centuries since the time of Saint Guru Nanak who preached universal love and brotherhood. Yesterday afternoon my wife and I were there at the Gurudwara once again, but this time with sorrow in our hearts — to pay homage to the dear departed soul at the Antim Ardaas that was held for him! May his soul rest in peace. Amen.

Shoot-Out: CID to probe

NHRC/SHRC probe: Tight security has been provided to the mortuary by the Mandi Police. Along with Sukhwinder's family members, a team from Faridkot Police too is expected to reach Mysuru. As this is a case of Police shoot-out, the National Human Rights Commission along with State Human Rights Commission will launch a parallel probe to dispel any doubts that arises out of the incident.

Informer to be investigated

The Police are also looking into the antecedents of Vijaykumar from Bengaluru, the informer who was in constant touch with Vijayanagar Inspector Kumar and who tipped the Inspector about the presence of the gang in Mysuru. Based on the information given by Vijaykumar, the Cop took his team to the spot and surrounded the gang.

Police sources said that Inspector Kumar did not know Vijaykumar in person and had only received his SMS messages about the gang and its activities in Mysuru. Vijaykumar told the Police that he had supplied demonetised notes to Sukhwinder as the gang promised new legal tender but the gangsters had cheated him after accepting the banned notes.

He told the Police that he wanted the gang to be apprehended and he was closely following the gang members wherever they moved. In Mysuru, Vijaykumar had booked a room and has been staying here since three months tracing Sukhwinder and his activities. That is when he came to know that the gang was waiting to deal with some other Mysureans, he told the Police.

Loopholes in version

Police have their own doubts about Vijaykumar's version of the story as there are several loopholes. Sources said that even Vijaykumar might be made an accused in the case and his antecedents, activities and history will be traced. What is surprising the Police is that Vijaykumar, leaving Bengaluru, stayed in Mysuru for three months closely following the gang.

Sources said that the gang had stay put in Mysuru since quite some time and their last stay was in a hotel on new Sayyaji Rao Road where they have been staying for over a week. They had entered into an agreement with several people from Mysuru to procure demonetised currency.

Gang used security thread of old notes to make new counterfeit currencies

Mysuru, May 17 (RK&BCT)- Why on earth does one want to buy demonetised notes that are no longer legal tender? One could easily get arrested if found possessing such banned notes. That too, why people from Punjab are interested in collecting wads of demonetised notes from Mysuru and they come all the way from the North to here carrying arms and using their local contacts to collect such notes?

Investigating yesterday's shoot-out incident where Sukhwinder Singh alias Durgesh from Faridkot in Punjab was shot dead by Vijayanagar Inspector B.G. Kumar near S.V. Apartments on Hebbal Ring Road, the Police have discovered that the demonetised notes are still in demand for its security thread.

One of the prime objectives of demonetisation was to put a chokehold on counterfeit note production. Criminal gangs and fake currency rackets are using the security thread of these devalued notes to print and pump in counterfeit notes.

Investigations have revealed the startling fact that counterfeit mafia is collecting the security threads of old notes to bulk-produce fake currency. These threads are carefully separated from the notes and inserted into fake Rs. 2,000 notes to make it genuine.

First this racket was busted in Kochi in 2017 and the Police had suspected a nexus between banking professionals and the racketeers. Those involved in bank-to-bank transactions and such other transactions are behind this. However, the probe hit a roadblock as the gangs were operating from other States. Now the Police can string the threads together to apprehend the gang, said sources.

Investigations have also revealed that Sukhwinder Singh had a well-established network of demonetised note collection and he along with his accomplices had come to Mysuru as part of the collection drive. The Police have a task to first arrest Sukhwinder's accomplices who are on the run and trace who their local contacts are and also identify the suppliers of the banned notes.

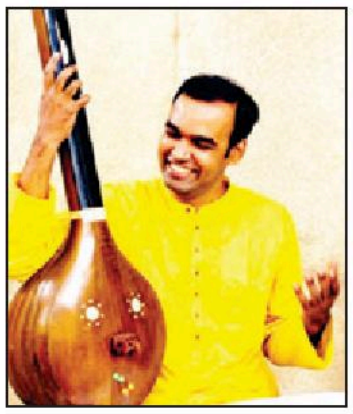
Lec-dem on classical music at Rotary West on May 18

Mysuru, May 17-The Mysore Literary Association has arranged a lecture-cum-demonstration on classical music by Vidwan Manasa Nayana on May 18 at 6 pm at the Rotary Mysore West Auditorium, Saraswathipuram.

Vidwan Manasa Nayana was initiated into music by Vidushi S. K. Vasumathi. Being a very creative musician, she opened his eyes towards the joy of manodharma sangeetha. He also trained under Vidwan Vairamangalam Lakshminarayana, a disciple of the inimitable T. K. Rangachari School, for a couple of years. But it was Sangeetha Kalanidhi Dr. R. K. Srikantan who was decisive in shaping his career in music.

When he took him under his wing, it was not just music that he taught him but a whole new way of life, the life of a musician.



Vidwan Manasa Nayana

Adherence to tradition, vigorous presentation, clear diction and a rich repertoire of kritis are the hallmarks of the R.K. Srikantan bani. Vedavalli, another musician who stands for the very best of the values in Karnatak music.

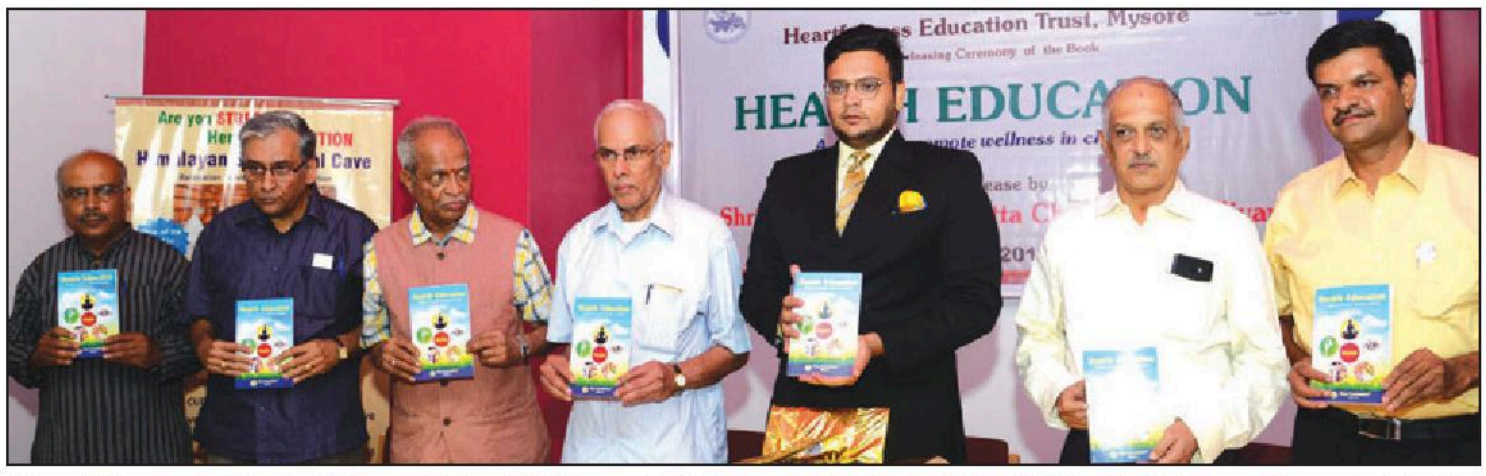
'Mysureans are far more healthier'

Yaduveer attributes it to city's planning by Wadiyars



Scion of Mysore royal family Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar releasing the book 'Health Education' at an event organised by Vijay Foundation and Heartfulness Education Trust, Mysore at the Rotary Centre, JLB Road, in city yesterday. Author Dr. B. R. Pai, MGP founder Dr. Bhamy V. Shenoy, Aditya Adhikari Hospital Managing Director Dr. N. Chandrashekar, Heartfulness Education Trust Zone Co-ordinator K. Madhusudhan and others are seen.

Mysuru, May 17 (YDS&NNN)- "In today's world health has become an international issue and hence each and everyone should maintain good health and only then can a nation and society be healthy," said scion of Mysore royal family Yaduveer Krishnadatta Chamaraja Wadiyar.

He was speaking after releasing the book 'Health Education, A guide to promote wellness in children,' authored by Dr. B.R. Pai, promoter of Health and Wellness, at an event organised by Vijay Foundation and Heartfulness Education Trust, Mysore at Rotary Centre, JLB Road, here yesterday.

The Wadiyars planned and built the city keeping in mind health of citizens and hence, when compared to other areas, Mysureans are healthier, he said.

"It is a welcome sign that Dr. Pai has written the book on health education. This book covers exercise, yoga, meditation, food habits and other health related issues which will help children become mentally and physically strong. Such socially relevant works will always have the backing of the royal family," he said.

Mysuru Grahakara Parishat (MGP) founder Dr. Bhamy V. Shenoy, who spoke about the book, said that a majority of people do not have concern about their health. Only when it deteriorates then they start thinking about it and this is the tragedy. "The environment we live in impacts our health and most of the people are not aware of this. This 96-page book by Dr. Pai has described in detail about health and the children must be asked to read it," he opined.

Everyone should be aware of clean air, proper food and good environment. If people neglect them, then they will become victims of various health problems. Hence, everyone should be taught health education and lead a healthy life, he said.

Aditya Adhikari Hospital Managing Director Dr. N. Chandrashekar said after reading 'Health Education', one should learn and try to implement the habits in their daily lives. Parents should also teach children about the importance of health, he advised.

Author Dr. Pai said that these days, children, youth, men and women are becoming prone to depression. The main reason for this is the change in lifestyle and mental pressure. Hence, not only must one read about books on health but also try to follow the suggestions in their daily lives, he said.

Heartfulness Education Trust Zone Co-ordinator K. Madhusudhan and others were present.

Interaction on Draft Industrial Policy held

Mysuru, May 17 (RKB&DM)- A day-long interactive session on "Promotion of industries and subsidy policy" in connection with the drafting of New Industrial Policy and Ease of Doing Business: 2019-2024, was held at the ZP Hall here yesterday.

The session organised by the Department of Industries and Commerce (DIC), was inaugurated by Deputy Commissioner Abhiram G. Sankar.

About 100 industrialists and entrepreneurs from eight districts of Mysuru Revenue Division — Mysuru, Mandya, Chamarajanagar, Hassan, Kodagu, Chikkamagalur, Dakshina Kannada and Udupi districts — attended the event and gave their suggestions on drafting the State's Industrial Policy for the next five years.

Coming up with their suggestions, most of the industrialists wanted an exclusive industrial policy for promotion of Micro, Small and Medium Scale Enterprises (MSMEs), as the sector is capable of creating more jobs.

Mysore Chamber of Commerce and Industry (MCCI) President A.S. Satish wanted the State Government to expedite its announced plan of creating an electronic and PCB hub in Mysuru.

Expressing concern over the delay in the execution of the project, Satish opined that the hub, apart from creating jobs and enhancing skills, will give a push to other industries as well.

Several industrialists from Kodagu complained of lack of dumping yards for industrial wastes.

Some industrialists from Chamarajanagar observed that taking up Chamarajanagar - Mettupalyam Railway link will largely help in promoting industries in the district as Mettupalyam is closer to Coimbatore, which is a big industrial centre in TN.

Outlining the necessities for promotion of industries in Chamarajanagar, they said that the Government must focus on improving infrastructure in Chamarajanagar Industrial hub, exemption of property tax for MSMEs, 50 percent subsidy in power bills, GST exemption for five years and a special package for Chamarajanagar district, which is considered as a backward district by Nanjundappa Committee.

Chamarajanagar Blackstone Quarry Owners Association President G.M. Hegde said that more than 5,000 workers are employed in quarry units. He stressed on the need for considering quarrying as a separate industry and announcement of facilities in accordance with the industry needs.

S.H. Veeranna, Additional Director, Industrial Policy and Promotion, Bengaluru; S.R. Satish, MD, Vishweswaraiah Trade and Technology Centre (VTTC), Bengaluru; B.K. Shivakumar, Joint Director, Planning and Projects, Department of Industries and Commerce; D.K. Lingaraju, Joint Director, DIC, Mysuru; M.N. Tata Steel PGTI Players Golf Championship

Shankar Das in the lead

Mysuru lad Yashas Chandra slips to 43rd place

Chandigarh, May 17- The seasoned Shankar Das of Kolkata made his presence felt with a third straight round of four-under-68 at the Rs. 30 lakh TATA Steel PGTI Players Championship Presented by Chandigarh Golf Club. Thirty-six-year-old Shankar now enjoys a one-shot lead at 12-under-204 ahead of the final round.

Mysuru lad M.S. Yashas Chandra (JWGC) fared well, but slipped to the 43rd place with a round of 5-over-77 on day three to return with a three-day aggregate score of one-over-217 (69+71+77) and is placed tied 43rd in the placings.

Greater Noida's Sudhir Sharma, who was overnight tied fourth along with Shankar after setting a new course record on Wednesday, also moved up two spots in the penultimate round. Sudhir's 69 on Thursday placed him second at 11-under-205.

M.S.Yashas Chandra

Bengaluru's Trishul Chinnappa, the halfway leader, slipped to tied third as a result of his third round of 73. Chinnappa shared third place with Noida's Gaurav Pratap Singh (71) at nine-under-207. Panchkula's Angad Cheema was the highest placed among the Tricity golfers. Cheema (68) closed the day in tied 12th at five-under-211.

The conditions during round three were unforgiving as it was the windiest day of the tournament and the breeze kept switching directions. The tough scoring conditions meant that only 17 players out of a total of 57 could break par on day three.

Shankar Das (68-68-68), a seven-time winner on the PGTI, negotiated the conditions well to shoot the day's joint best score and keep his card bogey-free. Das struggled to find greens in regulation but more than made up for that with his fine chipping and putting.

He was speaking at the 'Graduation Day' of JSS Institute of Speech and Hearing at Rajendra Centenary Hall in JSS Hospital premises here on Tuesday.

Maintaining that 15 percent of the global population is suffering from speech and hearing impairment, Dr. Suresh said that there are seven crore people with disabilities in our country, with a significant number among them being mentally retarded persons.

Bemoaning that not much efforts are being made to find solutions for disability issues, he stressed on the need for developing a sign language for communication among the disabled as in the western world.

Pointing out that sign language development is still at a nascent stage in our country, he underlined the need for scientific development of sign language for the hearing impaired.

Regretting that there was no proper dictionary on sign language, Dr. Suresh highlighted the need for experts to work on the issue.

He noted that the increasing number of female students preferring Speech and Hearing courses is a good development.

Former AIISH Director Dr. N. Rathna in his address, said that opting for a profession in Speech and Hearing carries with it a huge responsibility.

Highlighting the opportunities for Speech and Hearing graduated, he emphasised on the need for focussing on serious studies in the subject.

Parents allege injustice in RTE seats

'Migrants misusing Aadhaar card criteria to get admission in private schools'

Mysuru, May 17- With an amendment made to the RTE Act that makes it mandatory to consider Aadhaar card in the selection of students for seats in private schools under the RTE (Right To Education) quota, parents are apprehensive that the amendment will render injustice to deserving students.

The parents have objected to an Education Department Circular that Aadhaar card must be considered for selecting the beneficiary students under RTE.

The parents alleged that migrants, misusing Aadhaar card criteria are getting Aadhaar cards according to the residential address of their convenience, in order to get admission in private schools. The parents of ineligible children have been exerting pressure on private school managements not to seek other address proofs and consider only Aadhaar card, they say.

Expressing apprehension that considering only Aadhaar card as address proof will facilitate the migrants to get admission for their wards in schools under RTE quota, the parents have urged the Chief Minister, who also holds Primary and Secondary Education portfolio, to tighten norms for selecting RTE seat beneficiaries and to ensure that genuine applicants do not get a raw deal in RTE admissions.

385 students get admission under Right To Education

Mysuru, May 17 (MK&NNN)- In the first stage of the school admissions in the current year, 385 students in the district have got admissions in the schools of their choice, under the Right To Education (RTE) Act.

In the Right to Education Act or Compulsory Education Act, throughout the district, there are 969 seats reserved in various schools. In the first stage, 385 students were admitted out of the 531 students who were selected. Still there are 584 seats vacant and admissions can be sought in the second and third stage of selection process.

WORD OF THE DAY

Footle

Pronunciation: FOO-tul.
Meaning: To talk or act foolishly; to waste time: trifle, fool.
Origin: Footle will be more familiar to speakers of British English than it is to speakers of American English. Its likely source is the seldom-used footer, meaning "to waste time." That word is etymologically connected with fouter (also spelled foutra), a word referring to something of little value or someone worthless or bungling. But the link between footle and footer is speculative. What we can say with confidence is that footle is a verb of 19th century origin that—along with the derivative adjective footling (as in "a footling amateur")—is still apt when discussing foolish or trifling people or things.
Example: A very British invention..., the steam locomotive, derived as it was from [George] Stephenson's nippy Rocket machine on parallel tracks, and the experiments of a young boy called James Watt, who footled about with a spoon in the steam from his aunt's kettle. — John Lewis-Stempel, The Express Online (U.K.), 5 Aug. 2018.

THE ODD WORD

Finifugal

Afraid of finishing anything.

PHRASE OF THE DAY

Fag end

Meaning: The remnant of something, especially the part left after the best part has been used.

Origin: For most of the 20th century in the UK cigarettes were known colloquially as fags and a fag-end was the name of the end part of the cigarette, after most of it had been smoked. It feels intuitively that the cigarette is the source of the more general term 'fag end' meaning 'the left-over part of something'. That's what I was expecting to find when I started to research the expression. However, it turns out that, as well a 'cigarette', the word fag has several other meanings, which are:
The end of a roll or bale of cloth.
A parasitic insect that infects sheep.
The junior member of a group who performs menial tasks.
A homosexual man (a shortened form of 'faggot').
So, it could be that 'fag end' derives from one of those meanings. A little more delving showed that the 'fag end' was the name given to the last piece of cloth on a roll well before cigarettes were thought of.

QUOTE BOX

The church says the earth is flat; but I have seen its shadow on the moon, and I have more confidence even in a shadow than in the church.
